JEDELE SCHOOL
1944 –1951

Contributed by Priscilla Hilton King
Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan

Jedele School was built in 1872 and discontinued in 1952 when it was absorbed by the Saline School District. It is located on Waters Road, Section 4, Lodi Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan. The plat maps of 1874, 1895, 1915 and 1934 mark the location of the school. It was built on a one acre parcel of land donated by the Laubengayer family. This is my memory of my elementary school years of 1944 to 1951. I left the school when I was entering the sixth grade and moved with my parents to Salem Township.

If you were to travel west on Waters Road, just past Zeeb Road, you would find Jedele School. It was so named because most of the children who attended the school had the surname of Jedele (according to an earlier account documented in 1941 by fifth grade students). Don't expect to see a school looking like the one in the photo. It is now a lovely house with white siding covering the red bricks. There are trees and a garage. The cement steps are still visible at the front entrance. The house is now privately owned.

The school was constructed of red brick and was modeled after the one-room schools built across the country at the end of the century. Upon entering, there was a small section that was somewhat partitioned from the larger room. This small room was designated to hang coats, store lunches and the water bucket. The floors were oiled and were swept by the students, using sawdust to keep down the dust. The large pot-bellied stove was located in the front third of the room. Coal was used to keep it fueled. A blackboard with very little slate left on it hung on the north end of the wall with the American flag overhead. The desks faced this wall. The flag had 26 stars indicating states admitted to the union, with Michigan being number 26 in 1837. During frequent times of boredom, I would count the stars over and over.

The desks were in varying sizes, with the smallest in the front and the larger ones in the back, and were secured to the floor. The seats were attached to the desk behind. There was a hole in the writing area of the desk to hold the ink bottle, which we never used because we did not have pens and ink. Older students left their initials carved into the desks.

I began my education at Jedele School in the fall just before I turned five years old. As a kindergartner, I sat at a small table near the front of the room, under the flag. I walked to and from school mornings, afternoons and during the lunch recess, regardless of the weather. I was never allowed to take my lunch. To me the walk seemed endless. During those days, girls wore dresses. Skinny, bare legs on cold and windy days froze and turned blue. I begged to be allowed to carry my lunch and eat with my friend Joann who always carried her lunch. Instead, I ate the warmed-up food from the day before that my grandfather served to my brother and me. Nothing was wasted.

We had no playground equipment. What was left was all broken. There were skeleton remains of a merry-go-round and a rusty slide. The outhouse, located behind the school, had two sides: the left for the boys and the right for the girls. It was quite exciting the year a new outhouse was built, replacing the one which had one door. There was also a shed. One year during Halloween some pranksters put a carriage on the roof. We thought that was great fun.

Around Christmas, a portable makeshift stage would be constructed of flat boards and placed on a riser about twelve inches off the floor. A sheet was suspended from a wire strung across the room to suggest a stage effect. The students would sing Christmas songs and put on a little play. With so few students the program was short, but lots of fun for us. One time I had a small part and I practiced reading it over and over.

At the south-east corner of the room a table and a book shelf held a few badly worn books. None of us did much reading. The window over the table was graced with a small curtain to add charm to the "library." Joann and I would pass the time at the table by exchanging crayons. Broken crayons were always saved as they could be traded for a missing color. Crayons came in a flat box and were arranged however the pieces of crayons would fit. I could get three broken crayons into one slot. We colored pictures most of the day.

There was no well or water source at the school. The older students would walk down the road each morning to the Jedele farm, west of the school, which had the closest well. Here a metal bucket was filled and carried back. By the time the students arrived back at the school, the bucket of water had lost most of its contents from bumping against legs. We did not waste water on washing hands or cleaning; it was only for drinking. A ladle hung on a nail over the bucket and we all used the same dipper.

One year there was a big snow storm. Waters Road drifted shut and was impassable. All the neighbors (Drakes and Jedeles) came out with shovels to clear the road. It was great excitement as snowballs were flying in every direction. Of course, there was no school.

The pot-bellied stove that sat in the middle of the school room was essential in warming cold feet and drying wet socks and mittens. We could gather our few chairs up next to the enormous stove and put our cold, bare feet on it or close to the outside shell to warm our frozen toes. Mittens and wet socks were place on top of the stove to steam dry. A neighbor would arrive early to start the stove before we arrived. When Mrs. April was the teacher, her husband would get the stove going when he brought her to school.

In 1946 the first photographer came to school and took pictures of the children. After that, the photographer came every year. We all dressed in our best and washed our hair. One year I put on my Blue Moon perfume which I had purchased at the dime store on Main Street in Saline. The smell of the perfume made me sick and I had to burn my beautiful sweater as washing would not get rid of the terrible odor of the Blue Moon perfume.

Mrs. April introduced us to the Washtenaw County 4-H Clubs. I was ten years old when I learned how to identify birds and wildflowers, a passion that has never left me. Our exhibits were neatly arranged on trays that were placed on tables around the exhibition room of the Washtenaw County Fair Grounds. We all won ribbons and received certificates for participation.

My teachers were as follows (as documented on my report cards):

1944 –1945:	Isabelle Pfeiffer
1945 –1946:	Blanch Shankland
1946 –1947:	Mabel E. April
1947 –1948:	Mabel E. April
1948 –1949:	Helen Dysart
1949 –1950:	Mabel E. April

The last teacher before the school closed was Mrs. Stierle.

In 1950 the Jedele School held its first Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Detroit News. Joann and I were in the fifth grade, the only grade with two students, and old enough to participate. I was extremely nervous and had convinced myself that Joann was the smarter student. I made up my mind that I did not have a chance to win this event called a Spelling Bee. We did not practice. On the day of the spell-down, the students gathered around Joann and me as the first word was given. It was "acre." Joann quickly spelled the word but she spelled it with a "k" instead of a "c." Now it was my turn to spell "acre." I did not have a clue so I guessed and spelled it correctly: "a-c-r-e." That ended the spelling bee after one word. I was overjoyed but felt bad for Joann. I am sure she thought she would be the winner. Only a farm girl would know what an acre was, but so few of us knew how to spell the word. I was rewarded a beautiful Webster's Dictionary. It was my only dictionary for many years.

Through Ancestry.com I found a few Jedele School teachers who were living in area family homes. Carrie Powell, age 21, occupation recorded as teacher in the 1880 U.S. Federal Census. She was living with the Ole Sweetland family, two farms west of the school. The 1920 U.S. Federal Census recorded Alta E. Graves, age 37, teacher, living with the George Bohnett family. This is the farm I lived on during my years on Waters Road. My grandfather purchased the 20 acre farm from Mrs. Bohnett in 1945 for $5000, according to the Washtenaw County Register of Deeds. He sold it to Donald Drake in 1952. I often wondered which room Miss Graves slept in and how she liked teaching at the Jedele School. How did she get to school? Did she walk like the rest of us? Did she have to start the fire or haul water for the school and did she empty her own chamber pot that was in her room?

This part of my early life spent at Jedele School I embrace, remember and often reflect upon. I am forever grateful to Mrs. April. We did not have adequate supplies or a playground but somehow we managed to learn. I eventually graduated from college with a master's degree and went on to teach. However, the advantages of a one-room school with different age-groups cannot be diminished. The children all learned from one another (good or bad, but mostly good) and we all managed to be creative. Great fun!

REV. FRIEDRICH SCHMID'S DEATH RECORDS, 1834–1874, WASHTENAW COUNTY, MICHIGAN (PART SEVEN)

Translated & transcribed by John H. Schmale and Rob Steward, 1986

The original records of Rev. Friedrich Schmid are currently housed and may be accessed in The Michigan Historical Collections, Bentley Historical Library, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Please note that the handwriting of Rev. Schmid is not easily deciphered, in part due to his penmanship. The records contain entries written in old German script and some using English script. In addition, the pages in his records are not numbered. It is our understanding that he kept notes as he traveled and then entered then into his record books when he returned home. This may explain that while the records are fairly complete there are some gaps or omissions.

We have maintained the spelling Rev. Schmid used in the case of names and places. Items enclosed in parentheses are usually comments or notes of the translators or indicate alternate spellings or meanings. Rev. Schmid's usage or meaning of the term "Gicht" (gout) is unclear because it is used for infants as well as adults. It may have been used to indicate "swelling" of some kind, but here it has been translated as "disease" or "paralysis."

The "old cemetery" he refers to is the one where the Power Center now stands. Unclaimed bodies were moved to Fairview. The "New Cemetery" is Forest Hill and "Lower City" is Fairview.

Abbreviations used are yr(s). for year(s); mo. or ms. for month(s); ds. for day(s); Ev. for Evangelisch (Evangelical/Protestant) and Cem. for cemetery. Columns with no entry are indicated by three hyphens (---); and the end of each column entry is indicated with a semi colon (;).

Rev. Schmid's Death Records are in column format as follows:
(Left hand pages – a.) "Chronological Number" of the deceased for that particular year; Name of Deceased; Religion; Parents; Marital Status or name of spouse.
(Right hand pages – b.) Age; Cause of Death; Date and Place of Death; Date and Place of Burial.
(Note: beginning in 1862, the Biblical funeral text is often listed. Although it appears on page "b." of Rev. Schmid's records we are placing it as the last entry on the page "a." line to make better use of space.)

DEATH OF EMIL BAUR, 1894

The people of Ann Arbor were shocked last Friday morning at the announcement of the death of Prof. Emil Baur, on the evening previous at his home on Dexter road. He had been suffering for months from a severe attack of the grippe from which he never fully recovered and had been very despondent about himself for several weeks.

The deceased was born in 1830 in Wurtemburg, Germany, the son of Rev. Emil Baur and came to this country in 1852. About 1857 he was married to Miss Bertha Herzer of Grass Lake. In 1861 he came to Ann Arbor and for many years was the teacher of German in the High School. The family have resided at their present home for 33 years and it has been a very happy home. The deceased leaves a widow and seven children, five sons and two daughters. The funeral services were held at the family residence Sunday, being conducted by Rev. Henry Tatlock of the St. Andrews Episcopal Church of which society Mr. Baur had been an ardent member for many years. Active pallbearers were Profs. Thomas, Hudson, Walter and D'Ooge and Messrs L. Gruner and F. Pistorious. The honorary bearers composed of neighbors and friends were Mssrs. J. H. Allmand, J. Schenck, Jacob Schafer, Jacob Ganzhorn, W. F. Bird and N. B. Covert. Prof. Baur was a man of far more than ordinary ability. He was a pleasing writer and was a regular contributor to several German and English publications. Being extensively engaged in fruit culture he was an enthusiastic member of the County Horticultural Society and its secretary for many years. [More].

http://publications.newberry.org/ahcbp/ "A project of the William M. Scholl Center for American History and Culture at The Newberry Library in Chicago, the Atlas of Historical County Boundaries is a powerful historical research and reference tool in electronic form. The Atlas presents in maps and text complete data about the creation and all subsequent changes (dated to the day) in the size, shape, and location of every county in the fifty United States and the District of Columbia. It also includes non-county areas, unsuccessful authorizations for new counties, changes in county names and organization, and the temporary attachments of non-county areas and unorganized counties to fully functioning counties. The principal sources for these data are the most authoritative available: the session laws of the colonies, territories, and states that created and changed the counties."
